Tour Through Italy and Along the "Barbary Coast."

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb announce another novel tour. The party will sail from New York in the splendid steamship "Werra" of the North German Lloyd line, Wednesday, January 15, and landing at Naples, devote between three and four weeks to southern Italy, including not only Naples and Rome, but also all the chief cities and places of interest on the island of Sicily. Crossing from Palermo to Tunis, the capital of that strange country and ancient Carthage will be seen. Algeria will next be visited, and all the important places lying between the Tunisian boundary and the borders of Morocco, and southward from the sea to the Atlas Mountains, will be inspected. These include many quaint and picturesque spots. At one point the travelers will penetrate the great desert region lying south of the mountains and thus gain a glimpse of primitive life in the Sahara. Crossing to Spain, the party will visit some of the chief points of interest in Andalusia, including Grenada and the matchless Alhambra. It will then return home, making the whole of the delightful round in only eighty-five days, or, if preferred, individuals may join another special party for a more extended tour through Spain, Portugal, France and other parts of Europe. Only a limited number of passengers will be taken. A special circular may be obtained of Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, 206 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston.

WANTS TO CHANGE HIS NAME.
Application was yesterday made to the superior court by Jean Janssen, a Swedish metal engraver, to have his name changed. He wishes to be called Jean Johnstone. Judge Hall will hear the application to-day.

Court of Common Pleas--Civil Side--Judge Hotchkiss.

The suit of Herbert P. Wheeler against Frank L. Thomas, both of West Haven, to recover a bill of $12 on the building of a house, was tried in the court of common pleas yesterday morning, a jury having been drawn.

The jury yesterday returned a verdict for the plaintiff to recover $53.14 in the suit of Joseph Argall against James Reynolds, both of this city, to recover $50 for work.

Court Notes.

City Attorney Matthewman yesterday released Philip Stearns, the young jewelry drummer from New York, who was arrested in Hartford Monday night, charged with stealing a bicycle from Stearns, the bicycle dealer of this city. The authorities were convinced that Stearns was not the thief, although both Miss Gidmar, Stearns's clerk, and William Frisbie, on whom the real thief called before the theft, stated that the man arrested closely resembled the man who stole the wheel.

Contested Seats.

Washington, Dec. 5.--Pressure has been brought to bear on Speaker Reed to appoint two elections committees in the present congress. It is argued that in no other way can the large number of contested cases, thirty in all, be disposed of before March 4, 1897.

While the speaker has reached no decision in this matter, it is believed that he will be so influenced by the representations of the contestants (all of the number are republicans with few exceptions) that he will ask permission of the house to do so.

It is remembered that the Fifty-first congress, when Mr. Reed was previously speaker, had nearly expired before the last of the contests had been passed upon by the house. All that time the contested cases aggregated but sixteen, only half of the present number.

It is believed that Speaker Reed will place Mr. Daniels of Buffalo, N. Y., at the head of one of these committees.

Massacred by Turks.

Berlin, Dec. 5.--A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Cologne Gazette states that it is reported there that seven warships and nine torpedo boats, forming the armed reserve of the Black Sea fleet, are anchored at Sebastopol. It is asserted in naval circles in St. Petersburg that a month ago when Russia assumed that Great Britain might enter the Hellespont alone, orders were sent to Sebastopol to arm the vessels, raise their crews to the full complement of men and hold the fleet in readiness to sail upon twenty-four hours' notice.

Constantinople, Dec. 5.--The report circulated yesterday that the sultan had changed his mind in regard to the appointment of Zia Pacha as ambassador to Germany and had appointed Zia Pacha, Turkish ambassador at Paris, to go to Berlin instead, is confirmed. It is also announced that Muni Bey, son of Mahmud Dileleddin Pacha, minister of commerce and public works, will succeed Zia Pacha as Turkish representative at Paris.

Although frequent meetings of the sultan's cabinet have been held at the palace to discuss the question of the admission of extra guardships through the Dardanelles, no change in the position of the ports has been made known and the situation remains as before.

Advices received here from Marash and Bitlis say that the missionaries at Marash are safe and not at all apprehensive of further danger, but that the missionaries at Bitlis are in a state of anxiety.

Said Pacha, president of the council of state and formerly grand vizier, has taken refuge in the British embassy, fearing that he will be arrested.

London, Dec. 5.--The correspondent of the United Press at Constantinople, under yesterday's date, says that in the massacre which occurred at Marash on November 1, the killing, pillaging and burning was done by the Turkish troops alone. There was absolutely no uprising of the inhabitants, and no violence whatever except on the part of the military.

The people massacred were powerless to defend themselves and fell like sheep before the swords and guns of the soldiers.

A massacre has also taken place at Filice, near the city of Tokat. It is learned that 200 persons were killed in the massacre that took place at Kaisersa on November 30.

A dispatch from Paris to the Times states that in an interview to-day a personage having access to the sultan and expressing actual ideas of the latter vouched for the statement that England did not start the proposal for a second guardianship in the Bosphorus.

He stated that M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador to Turkey, originated the idea, and that Sir Philip Currie, the British minister, only gave his adhesion after the other diplomats.

It is asserted that the Dryad was expressly ordered not to enter the Hellespont without a formal order twice issued. The newspaper declared that the story that Sir Philip Currie was the author of the proposal was a pure myth.

He said that he was personally acquainted with Sir Philip, and that the latter was unostentatious, prudent and experienced; that he was liked by his colleagues and esteemed by the sultan, who was fond of conversing with him.

The Times prints the following from Constantinople:

"Although the sultan proposed and Germany accepted ex-Minister Turkhan as Turkish ambassador to Berlin, the sultan has changed his mind and has appointed Zia Pacha, now the representative of Turkey at Paris, to go to Berlin."

The Times' correspondent defends the arrests and deportations at Constantinople as ridding the city of an element that will be well spared, as it would constitute the bulk of the mob in the event of a riot.

The correspondent admits that in some instances the choice of the persons arrested has been unhappy, but says that in the main the arrests have been beneficial, and that the danger of disorder in the city lessens daily.

Chicago, Dec. 5.--S. M. Moore, father of Mrs. Gates, who is now at the American college at Kharpout, received the following dispatch from Assistant Secretary of State Uhl yesterday:

"Terrell, our minister, cables that Kharpout telegrams report Americans protected and that Mrs. Gates is convalescing."

"This is the first direct news that we have had of Mrs. Gates since the massacre," said Mr. Moore. Secretary Uhl is a warm personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Gates.

"On Thanksgiving day I wired him to cable Mr. Terrell, requesting him to send to Kharpout for definite news of Mrs. Gates and her husband and spare no expense."

The Derby Turnpike.

The committee before whom the Derby Turnpike case was tried, Judge L. B. Brewster of Danbury, F. J. Kingsbury of Waterbury and S. G. Davidson of Bethany, held a consultation yesterday in the bar library and it will be some time in all probability before the committee will determine how much money must be paid. The Turnpike company asks for $12,000. It is probable that the town of New Haven will have to bear a large portion of the expense.
